

introduce an intermediate aggregation layer in your backend.

This layer will call other services. Because internal network call will be much faster.